

AmericanEagle.com Now Using WYNCS WEB SYNC To Benefit Mobile Clients

Large development firm using the latest Web-to-Outlook and Palm utility

AmericanEagle.com recently partnered with Eros Technology Corporation utilizing Eros' own Wyncs Web Sync Utility as their source for Web-to-Outlook data transfer. AmericanEagle.com provides professional website development for a large number of Government, Financial, Educational, and Business clients. The rave for Wyncs has started with the College sites.

To see how well it would work, AmericanEagle.com's initial Wyncs test was on clients 'Sports Schedule' pages. This allowed site visitors to 'instantly' transfer the sports schedule to their Palms, Handhelds, or Microsoft Outlook. The visitors were quickly impressed with the simplicity and speed of the Wyncs utility. AmericanEagle reps state that, "Wyncs is perfect for our 'clients' site visitors. It doesn't take any know-how or expertise to sync an event into your Palm or Outlook. The visitors simply 'click' and the data is sent. Wyncs installs on demand, so they don't have to run setup OR leave the site... it's perfect!"

According to AmericanEagle.com, Wyncs provided the most promising 'data transfer' solution at the best price. They have since opted for a Branded version that shows their corporate identity with every synchronization. This made the Wyncs utility visibly integrated into their own designs... very appropriate for such a large developer.
